ELECTION UNDER RESTRICTION REQUIREMENT

Sir:

In the Action dated July 28, 2005, the Examiner has restricted the application and has required an election of one of three different groups set forth on page 2 of the Action. The application has been restricted into the following three groups (noting that, in accord with the Examiner's note of Page 2 of the Action, Claims 29-59, as originally filed, have been renumbered as Claims 28-58):

Group I. Claims 1-28 and 54 drawn to a hammermill with a grate assembly, classified in class 241, subclass 186.2;

Group II. Claims 29-42 and 56-58 drawn to a hammermill with an annular peripheral ring, classified in class 241, subclass 188.1; and Group III. Claims 43-53 and 55 drawn to a hammermill with a particular type of hammer, classified in class 241, subclass 194.

Applicant provisionally elects Group II with traverse and, accordingly, in the event no generic claim is held to be allowable, provisionally elect Claims 29-42 and 56-58 drawn to a hammermill with an annular peripheral ring, classified in class 241, subclass 188.1.

For a restriction requirement to be proper, the Examiner must satisfy the following two criteria: (1) the existence of independent and distinct inventions (35 U.S.C. § 121); and (2) that the search and examination of the entire application cannot be made without serious burden on the Examiner. See M.P.E.P. § 803. Applicant requests that the restriction requirement be reconsidered because the Examiner has not met the burden of demonstrating that a serious burden would be required to examine all the claims. M.P.E.P. § 803 provides:

If the search and examination of an entire application can be made without serious burden, the Examiner must examine it on the merits, even though it includes claims to distinct or independent inventions. (Emphasis added.)

Applicant respectfully submits that the Examiner has not shown that the second requirement has been met. Specifically, there has been no showing that it would be a serious burden to search and examine the three groups together. The groups are related in that they involve a hammermill for reducing material and a method of using same. Because little or no additional burden would be required to search and examine the groups together, applicant respectfully submits that the Examiner should search and examine the groups together. Indeed it would be most efficient to keep them together. Consequently, reconsideration and modification or withdrawal of the restriction requirement is requested.

Applicant awaits an action on the merits.
